Pleinre Sale a Success.

Picture Salea Success.

The sale of the Gibson pictures at the Second Presbyterian church last night was quite a success. Music and recitations preceded the auctioning of the pictures. Many of the pictures had been previously bought at private sale, and the bidding was spirited. The sale, which continues a the church this afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock, is under the auspices of the Carrolion Circle, of the church.

Defendant Got 40 Cents.

Yesterday before Squire Rogers sult was brought by Squire J. G. Haberfield was brought by Squire J. G. Haberfield against Charles Becker, of North Wheeling, for payment of a coal bill. The case was tried by a jury composed of Dr. L. N. Reefer, Thos. Fox, C. J. Bradford, Galia Mitchell and Robert Teasdale. After arguments by opposing attorneys, the jury was not long in returning a verdict of forty-nine cents for the defendant.

FIRST IS GUILTY.

John Arthur Found Guilty of Liquor Law Violation.

HE WAS THE FIRST OF THE "67" Who Figured in the Recent Plea in Abate ment Cases to be Tried on the Charge. Attorneys Move for a New Trial-Matter Taken Under Advisoment by Judge Hngus-Arthur's Attorneys Made no De fense Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon, in the criminal ourt of Ohio county, Judge Hugus, the trial of the first of the "sixty-seven," who were recently placed on fame's roll through the abatement cases, came to its conclusion and the result is John Arthur, the McColloch street saloonist, is found guilty of seiling whisky on what has become popularly known as the "short" Hoense.

The trial began yesterday morning

The trial began yesterday morning before a jury composed of Messra, James White, W. C. Jones, C. H. Wheeler, H. J. Mendel, John McGrum, W. C. Hanes, James E. Hanes, J. W. Beir, F. M. Carlin, William Hervey, George Hawkins and Charles Herwig.

The first witnesses were Ed. Bender and Thomas Clark, the latter colored, whose testimony didn't amount to much from the state's point of view. They were not certain that they had bought whisky at Arthur's place. The next, however, George Sorqey, testified to having purchased whisky after May 1, 1897, before which Mr. Arthur had the $350 state license which gives him the right to sell spirituous liquors, and after which he did business on the $100 state license, which allows only the sale of ales, wines, beer, etc. An effort was made to have the witness admit that he was employed by the state as a "apy," but he denied this allegation.

The defendant, John Arthur, testified next. He was handed three licenses, a city license, a full state license, which expired last May, and a "short" license. After a great deal of wrangling these were admitted as evidence.

Deputy Sheriff John Kindelberger testified to the manner in which the state licenses are issued.

At the afternoon session of court, arguments were opened by Mr. Nesbitt,

At the afternoon session of court, ar

At the afternoon session of court, arguments were opened by Mr. Nesbitt, for the state. The defendant, he said, was charged with wilfully selling spirituous liquors on the "short" license. The testimony of George Sorgey was reviewed. Before the first of last May, the defendant had a full state license and could lawfully sell whisky, but after that time he could not sell spirituous liquors lawfully. Mr. Nesbitt then proceeded to quote from the statutes regulating the sale of intoxicants to show that Arthur had violated the law of the state.

When the defense was called, Mr. Howard said they had no argument to submit.

Howard said they had no argument to submit.

After the jury had retired, Mr. Howard said he supposed a verdict of gully would be brought in. He stated his desire to have the other cases tried as speedily as possible, but he expected to be called to Tucker county for two weeks and would therefore ask the court to postpone the next trials until his return. The state acceded to this request, and the other cases against John Arthur and that against Henry Amick were set for Monday, December 13, and the others will follow in succession in the order they appear on the docket.

The jury was out about fortishive the state of the s docket.

The jury was out about forty-five minutes and returned a verdict of guilty. For the defense, Mr. Howard moved that the verdict be set aside and a new trial granted. The judge took this matter under advisement. In the event that the motion is overruled, the defense will appeal to the circuit court, and to the state supreme court of appeals, if necessary.

Yesterday, in Part II of the circuit court, Judge Hervey on the bench, the following business was transacted:
James Freeman, et al., vs. John McNamara, et al.; John A. Howard, John J. Coniff and M. F. Dryden were appointed special commissioners for the estate of McNamara, and a decree of John J. Jones, trustee, vs. James F. Trueman; the judgment by the jury in the court of Justice Fitzpatrick, was set aside and the case set for trial on ember 22.

Badly cut about the face and head, with part of a jag on board, but drenched to the skin with Ohio river water, unable to steady himself on his one good leg, but to steady himself on his one good leg, but possessing a good deal of reticence, John Rogers, as he calls himself was carried to the police station at 1 o'clock this morning. He is a stranger, who was discovered trying to warm himself near the furnaces at the top mill, and Officer Ritz brought him to police headquarters.

The fellow was in a bad plight, and he shivered from cold. According to his story, which was drarged out of him by hard jerks, Rogers said he left Steubenville in a shanty boat, which struck a barge and was wrecked. He waded out to shore and climbed up the bank to the Top mill. The cut in his head was severe. Dr. Spargo, dressed his wounds. Rogers had a leg taken off in the New England states.
